The Panthian 1960

FORWORD

Throughout our high school years we, the citizens and leaders of tomorrow, are molded. For this reason, it is important that we are carefully guided toward our life's goal by ever increasing knowledge in every field. In the classroom, as our minds grow and develop, we are led to a better understanding of life in the world around us; through clubs and parties we are led to a better understanding of our fellow citizens, and through sports we learn to accept disappointment as well as victory.

Realizing the manner in which we have been guided toward the future during these formative years, we of the staff have chosen as the theme of the 1960 Panthian, "Gateway to the Future, Guide of the Past."

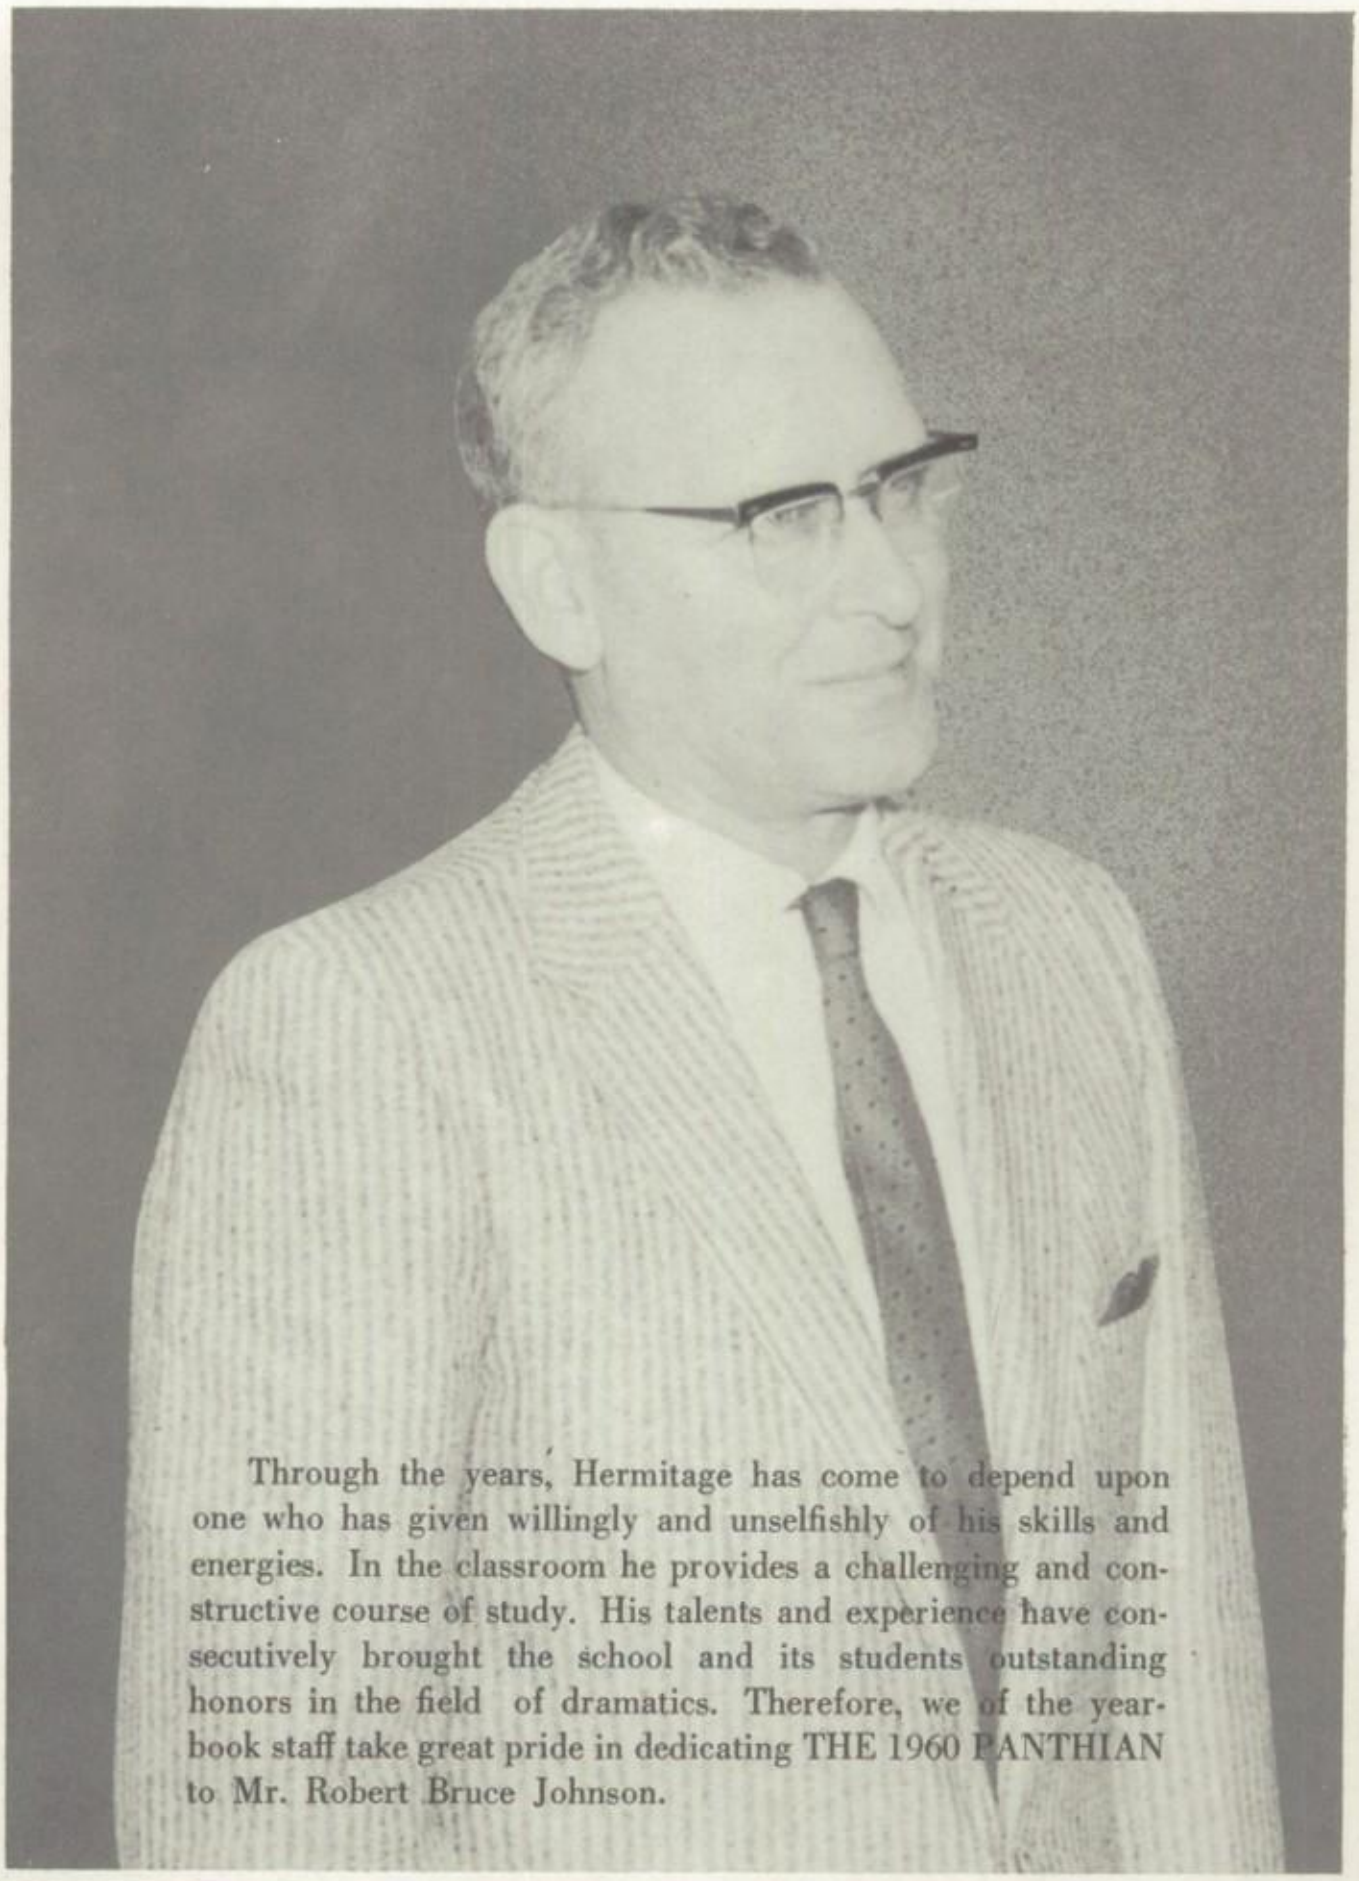
DEDICATION



Through the years, Hermitage has come to depend upon one who has given willingly and unselfishly of his skills and energies. In the classroom he provides a challenging and constructive course of study. His talents and experience have consecutively brought the school and its students outstanding honors in the field of dramatics. Therefore, we of the yearbook staff take great pride in dedicating THE 1960 PANTHIAN to Mr. Robert Bruce Johnson.

WORKING IN THE CLASSROOM

FEATURES

Features at Hermitage were a guide toward learning the spirit of cooperation through hard work and association with others. Students' interests were broadened and hidden talents were discovered in creative activities such as plays presented for and by Hermitage students, and participation in assemblies, Christmas programs, music festivals, concerts, and other programs.

One of the most important highlights of the year was the Winter Carnival in which senior boys and girls chosen to be in the Court were honored. At this formal dance, the Court formed impressive figures and the King and Queen and her attendants were announced.

Features taught students to appreciate hard work, and prepared a gateway to cooperation with others in the world.

CHRISTMAS IN MUSIC

The A Cappella Choir sings various selections of Christmas music.

This year, as in years previous, the Hermitage A Capella Choir presented "Christmas in Music," a program for the students and community. A candlelight processional opened the first portion of this program, and was followed by the singing of Christmas classics including solos of "Jesu Bambino" and "Birthday of a King." A highlight of the second portion of the program was the presentation of old Christmas favorites. The candlelight recessional and the singing of "Hark, The Herald Angels Sing" closed this year's yuletide pageant.

Not to be overlooked were the music and art departments whose assistance greatly aided in the presentation of the program.

Right: As the students await the arrival of the court at the Winter Carnival, they take advantage of the music provided them.

ASSEMBLIES AND DANCES

This year the assembly program at Hermitage covered a various number of fields, such as humor, education, religion, music, and election speeches. The faculty exhibited a sincere effort in the planning and presentation of these programs. Having benefited from the inspiration of the speakers, the students expressed a spirit of true appreciation.

Though many class parties and other dances were held throughout the year, none were more anticipated than the Winter Carnival and the Junior-Senior Prom. Those who assisted in the presentation of these dances learned that complete cooperation is of the utmost importance.

As their class party progresses, the seniors enjoy a slow dance.

One of the highlights of the school year was the second homecoming celebration of Hermitage. Two girls from each grade were selected as princesses to represent their classes. From these six princesses the student body voted for the girl who would reign as queen.

During half-time of the homecoming football game, the Hermitage Homecoming Queen for 1959-60 was announced. Then the following night at the homecoming dance, anxious spectators were delighted to see Judy Hallam crowned by former Homecoming Queen, Carol Bowles. Bonnie Walker was chosen Maid of Honor and the princesses of the court reigned.

ORGANIZATIONS

In teaching students to work together, organizations proved invaluable as a guide to fellowship. Through participation in extra-curricular activities, a richer understanding between pupils and sponsors developed, and students became better acquainted with each other. Their outlooks were broadened and the value of cooperation was instilled in them.

In addition, the members gained constructive experience not only as leaders, but also as followers. Entertainment was provided for the students by these clubs, and through parties, picnics, and gatherings, their social life was not ignored.

As a gateway to the future, organizations showed students the way to happiness and success through a job well done.

In order to further the spirit of Hermitage, the S.C.A. sponsored its annual Hunting Season dance, as well as the Winter Carnival. Chartering most of the clubs at school, the Student Cooperative Association was also responsible for Stunt Night.

Members of the S.C.A. had opportunities to attend the state convention, the S.C.A. Workshop and the national convention, all of which helped to further the progress of the school's most important organization.

THE PANTHIAN

The business and editorial staffs in close co-operation began work on the 1960 Panthian in the summer, when members of the business staff solicited ads to aid in its support. Theme, layout, copy, and deadline were just a few of the terms which confronted the editorial staff. Members devoted their study-halls to help in the photography of the yearbook, and to help in meeting the deadlines.

Aiming to produce a yearbook that would have many lasting memories for the students, the staff worked many hours, and set a precedent in having color pictures for the first time. The climax of the year arrived when the students received the final product of a hard year's work.

The editorial staff, in charge of writing and planning the paper, began working in the summer and published a preview issue, while the business staff solicited ads.

At the beginning of the year the members sold subscriptions not only to Hermitage students, but also to those at the new junior high school. To climax the subscription drive the staff sponsored a "newspaper hop" giving students a chance to become acquainted with their newspaper and its workers.

This year all the work, including the editing and publishing, was done by the Staff. To give more students an opportunity to have their work selected, two issues of the Penman were published—one in the fall and one in the spring.

Throughout the year a working honor club was evident as the members strived to promote and preserve high standards in the school. In order to recognize outstanding scholastic students, the Honor Society awarded certificates at the end of the year to those who had achieved honor roll grades during each report card period. As a yearly responsibility they maintained the Honor Roll Scrolls in the main hall.

Working for God, school, and community best described the Hi-Y work this year. The members attended churches of all faiths throughout the community one Sunday a month. Organized as a team practicing good sportsmanship, the boys played the Key Club in football. They participated in the district conference of Hi-Y clubs, and one member was elected to an office at the Model General Assembly.

Not forgetting those less fortunate, the members collected for the Muscular Dystrophy Drive, and distributed baskets of food to needy families at Christmas. As an added attraction, several of the boys formed the Hi-Y Congo Band which played at pep rallies and school parties.

Through these activities the Hi-Y helped its members "to create, maintain and extend throughout the school and community, high standards of Christian character."

As a highlight of the Lion's Club Minstrel Show the Hi-Y Congo Band plays "When The Saints Go Marching In."

Triangle I sponsored a party with the Hi-Y, and for Christmas the members gave a party for the children at the Medical College of Virginia.

As their service project, the Triangle II members adopted underprivileged girls. Throughout the year they worked earnestly and devoted much time to their little "adopted sisters."

The FBLA girls sell supplies before school.

Fostering better business relations in the school, and training better business men and women through actual office practice was the purpose of the FBLA. This service club composed entirely of business students learned through practice in selling supplies, serving as office assistants and student assistants to the business teachers, and selling pennants and dolls to raise money.

During the year the FBLA held a sockhop honoring the football team. At Christmas the members gave a basket of food to a needy family and distributed toys to less fortunate children. Participation in regional and state conventions helped to broaden the students' knowledge of the business world.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

The FTA, organized for students interested in the opportunities and responsibilities of teaching, substituted for members of the faculty as a main service. In November the officers and sponsors attended the state FTA convention. As a project the members sold Hermitage stationery for the first time, awarding the profits in a scholarship to a senior interested in teaching.

The club as a group visited a college for observation and study. At Christmas the members adopted a needy family and provided food, clothing, and toys for them. To climax the year "Citizen and Teacher of the Year" contests were sponsored, honoring the most deserving citizen and teacher.

In the fall, the club sponsored the "Hunting Season Dance" to which the girls invited the boys. Throughout the year future homemakers worked to make the home of each member more attractive simply and inexpensively, and gave a fashion show. As a fund raising project the club made and sold Christmas decorations for gift wrappings, and distributed presents to needy children. In the spring the members participated in the Civil Defense Program.

STUDENT PRACTICAL NURSES

This year, for the first time, the Student Practical Nurses were organized to prepare girls for future careers in nursing. Daily these girls attended nursing classes for which they received three credits towards graduation. As part of this program, the girls also attended the Medical College of Virginia once a week. Upon completion of high school, these girls will be enrolled in a school for practical nurses to continue their training.

So that the students participating in the Diversified Occupations program might have some social activities, the Diversified Occupations Club was organized. Besides having a Christmas party and a weenie roast, the members also attended the district and state conventions. Through their club activities the students were able to co-ordinate their program on a statewide basis, thus existing as a part of a larger organization.

CHRISTIAN YOUTH LEAGUE

The Christian Youth League, an interdenominational club, endeavored to bring Christ into the lives of Hermitage students. During the year the members sponsored weekly devotionals in the teachers' cafeteria, and were in charge of having the blessing at each lunch.

The main purpose of the French, Latin, and Spanish clubs was to create a greater interest and understanding of the language and the culture of the country. Meeting twice a month, the students heard guest speakers and conversed in their chosen language.

At Christmas the members sponsored the annual language party in which each club participated in a prepared skit. Other activities included a sock-hop in which the money raised was awarded as a scholarship to the student with the highest scholastic average in a language. In the spring there was focus week and the language club picnic. During focus week each club showed its knowledge of the country and its language in posting a bulletin board and displaying signs and posters in the halls.

Many hours are spent in rehearsal by the band.

While furthering their musical ability and experience, the Hermitage Band entertained at football games, pep rallies, parades, and concerts. This year the band was able to purchase much needed new uniforms with the help of the Lakeside Lions and through projects such as paper drives, variety shows, and selling candy. The Majorettes helped to promote school spirit and interest as they assisted the band.

SPORTS

Throughout the year various athletics, in developing strong bodies as well as minds, were a guide to sportsmanship. With many young beginners on the teams, students and athletes showed their school spirit in displaying the proper manner of experiencing success and of accepting defeat, a true test of sportsmanship.

Furthering school spirit by adding pep and enthusiasm, the cheerleaders led students, parents, and faculty in cheers of encouragement for a victory. Many long, arduous hours of practice by cheerleaders and members of the team preceded each season of sports, and united all in a desire to win.

Both as a guide of the past and gateway to the future, sports exhibited to the students the true meaning of teamwork and sportsmanship.

VARSITY FOOTBALL

With the loss of eight of the eleven first string players through graduation, many developed a pessimistic attitude toward the ultimate success of the football team. For a team that was predicted to win only two games, the Hermitage players proved worthy of praise when they thrilled spectators by overcoming all rivals except two.

This unexpected outcome was attributed mainly to the perseverance and development of the team. Needless to say, the support of the student body was encouraging. The unfailing support of the Hermitage students throughout the football season was evidence of the pride and interest in their reliable team.

At the close of the season, the Lion's Club held a banquet in honor of the football team. The cheerleaders and majorettes, as well as the football players, were present when various team members received recognition for their outstanding display of skill on the gridiron.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

No team worked as long nor as hard as the faithful members of this year's Varsity Basketball Team. Even when defeats brought discouragement, the team patiently continued practice. Despite their effort and determination, they were overcome by the opposition in many of the games.

There was a lack of experience and not a lack of ability, as only one member of last year's team returned. The experience gained, however, has proven that whether in victory or in defeat Hermitage sportsmanship prevails.

As a result of their skill, the Baby Panthers proudly finished the season with the best J.V. Basketball record in the history of Hermitage High School. The team's losses seemed insignificant in comparison with their well-earned victories. Each of the new victories increased the basketball enthusiasts' interest and the teams morale.

The boys' devotion to the game and their sincere determination were responsible for the ultimate success of the Baby Panthers.

ADMINISTRATION

Under the leadership of the Hermitage faculty, the scholarship life of the students was carefully guided. Their jobs did not start and end with each period but extended throughout the entire day, and often into much of the night for those teachers who gave of their free time in order to sponsor clubs, chaperone dances, and aid in other activities.

In addition to continually answering the questions of students in their classes, the administration also counseled lowerclassmen in a selection of courses which would serve them in their future professions, and aided upperclassmen in preparation for college and careers. This year a very successful "Career Night" was held in which students learned of many professions through qualified speakers.

Knowledge, ability to think, and high standards gained through the work of the administration opened a gateway to future success in the lives of all students.

CLASSES

Through their classes the students of Hermitage were guided in seeking knowledge and information. They did not learn only from books, but gained experiences and practical applications through interesting classes to aid them in later life as good citizens. As the students became upperclassmen, they realized that the knowledge acquired from their courses was more important than grades, though each strived for good marks.

Extra-curricular activities where friends gathered for wholesome fun and entertainment presented a well-rounded social life to the students. This was also a time of opportunity, where each individual began to find his place in life.

Through classes a feeling of togetherness and ambition born of knowledge and acquired skills paved a gateway to the future successful careers of these Hermitage students.

SENIOR HISTORY

Within the walls and along the corridors of Hermitage High School, in classes and in various extracurricular activities, the students of the class of 1960 have found a gateway to the future and a guide of the past.

In September, 1955, confused and bewildered eighth graders entered the auditorium to be welcomed by a new principal and a host of unfamiliar faces. For most, this was a year of experimentation and indecision, and the future was a silhouette. No details could be seen clearly; no objectives were precisely stated. Only the outline of the future was clear to these students as they worked and enjoyed a change in classes and opportunities to participate in sports, clubs, and publications. This first year in high school was spent in becoming accustomed to the changes which it brought.

Their second year at Hermitage found the students taking part in more activities with the upper classmen. The boys participated in the sports as the girls cheered them on to victory and led them in good sportsmanship. These Freshmen, as they worked and enjoyed sports and other organizations, also began to learn to follow the leadership of the upper classmen, a duty which they must assume in two years.

Finally they reached the midpoint of their high school career. As sophomores, their responsibilities grew. This year their outstanding leaders were elected to club offices. They also placed officers in the student government, the S. C. A. They contributed to the life of the school in sports as the Panther boys continued to climb to victory. These sophomores became excited and inspired to continue their work as they witnessed the tappings of upper classmen into honorary clubs.

Its fourth year at Hermitage brought the class of 1960 into the midst of hard work, participation in various varsity sports, and active interest in the music department, Stunt Night, and other highlights of the year. At last they were upper classmen. Outstanding members of the class were tapped into the National Honor Society and the Quill and Scroll. Suddenly they began to realize how much an education would mean in their future and how much high school prepared them for it. Now it was clear that high school was an invaluable guide to their becoming active, interested citizens. A few of the class of '60 continued to lead their fellow students in the S. C. A., and others served in the many school clubs. However, there were perhaps two events in their junior year which made it such a memorable one. In the first part of the year, juniors could be heard saying, "What color are you going to order?" "Do you like this one?" Finally the class rings arrived to become lasting symbols of the years spent at Hermitage. As a climax of this year, the juniors worked diligently to present to the graduating class the Junior-Senior Prom. Balloons and colored streamers, confetti, and gay masks transformed the gym into a glorious Mardi Gras night.

Their final year at Hermitage brought many good times which soon became pleasant memories, for this was the year they did things "for the last time". Still more members of the class of '60 were taken into honorary clubs. The senior stunt in Stunt Night became a success only through the efforts of many participants. The senior play was enjoyed by the school as a traditional production, and the party following it was another reminder that the big year was quickly passing. The hilarious, adventurous trips to New York will not soon be forgotten. Sight-seeing, shopping and wonderful times were all a part of this annual event. Then there were senior pictures to be taken, cards and announcements to be ordered, caps and gowns to be measured for, and nerves to be calmed as final exams were tackled. The Prom, held in their honor, was the climax of an unforgettable year.

Graduation was held in the Mosque auditorium. Suddenly they were no longer students of H. H. S., as one by one each received his diploma. Now these alumni realized the importance of the guidance they had received during their five years at Hermitage as they stepped into a new way of life through this gateway to the future.

ADVERTISEMENTS

Advertisements served as a guide toward learning the methods of the business world. The publications were financed easier through ads, which created a bond of understanding between students, businessmen, and organizations of the community, as they became better acquainted with each other.

Local civic organizations greatly aided Hermitage in buying equipment and uniforms to better the efficiency of the school, and in giving scholarships to worthy students. During the year many students visited industrial plants and other businesses of the area to see "industry in action." Also professional people visited classes and spoke to teachers and students.

Advertisements provided a gateway to knowledge of the business world, and gave students an insight to business careers.

THE MARK OF A CHAMPION

When a young man can face the Business World with the courage that he backs a line in football, and can take the bumps that inevitably will come to him in business, and can keep his fighting spirit and keep smiling . . . then he has the mark of a champion. The Life Insurance Business needs such men, so why not prepare yourself for a career in the Life Insurance Business! It's a business of opportunity for young men of ambition and vision.
